Professional Summary

I'm Nate, a designer and strategist who's been around the block with brands of all shapes and sizes.

With 8+ years in the creative world, I've worked on everything from scrappy startups to global heavyweights. I'm all about bringing brands to life with visuals that actually resonate and strategies that make a difference.

Whether it's a rebrand, a social campaign, or a full-blown product launch, I'm here to make sure it connects, cuts through, and brings real results.

Core Skills:

▪ Brand Strategy & Market Positioning

Developing strategic brand identities that resonate across digital and physical touchpoints.

▪ Cross-Industry Adaptability

Extensive experience across fashion, hospitality, e-commerce, and public art sectors.

▪ Creative Campaign Development

Expertise in ideating and executing campaigns that drive audience engagement and brand loyalty.

▪ AI-Enhanced Workflow Management

Leveraging tools like ChatGPT and Claude to streamline creative processes and enhance team productivity.

▪ Product & Merchandise Design

Skilled in designing apparel, packaging, and product lines that align with brand aesthetics and consumer expectations.

▪ Digital & Print Content Creation

Proficient in creating cohesive visual narratives across multiple platforms, including social media, web, and print.

Additional Information

My Approach

Brand Strategist & Head Designer

Project Type:

Branding, Packaging, Campaign Design

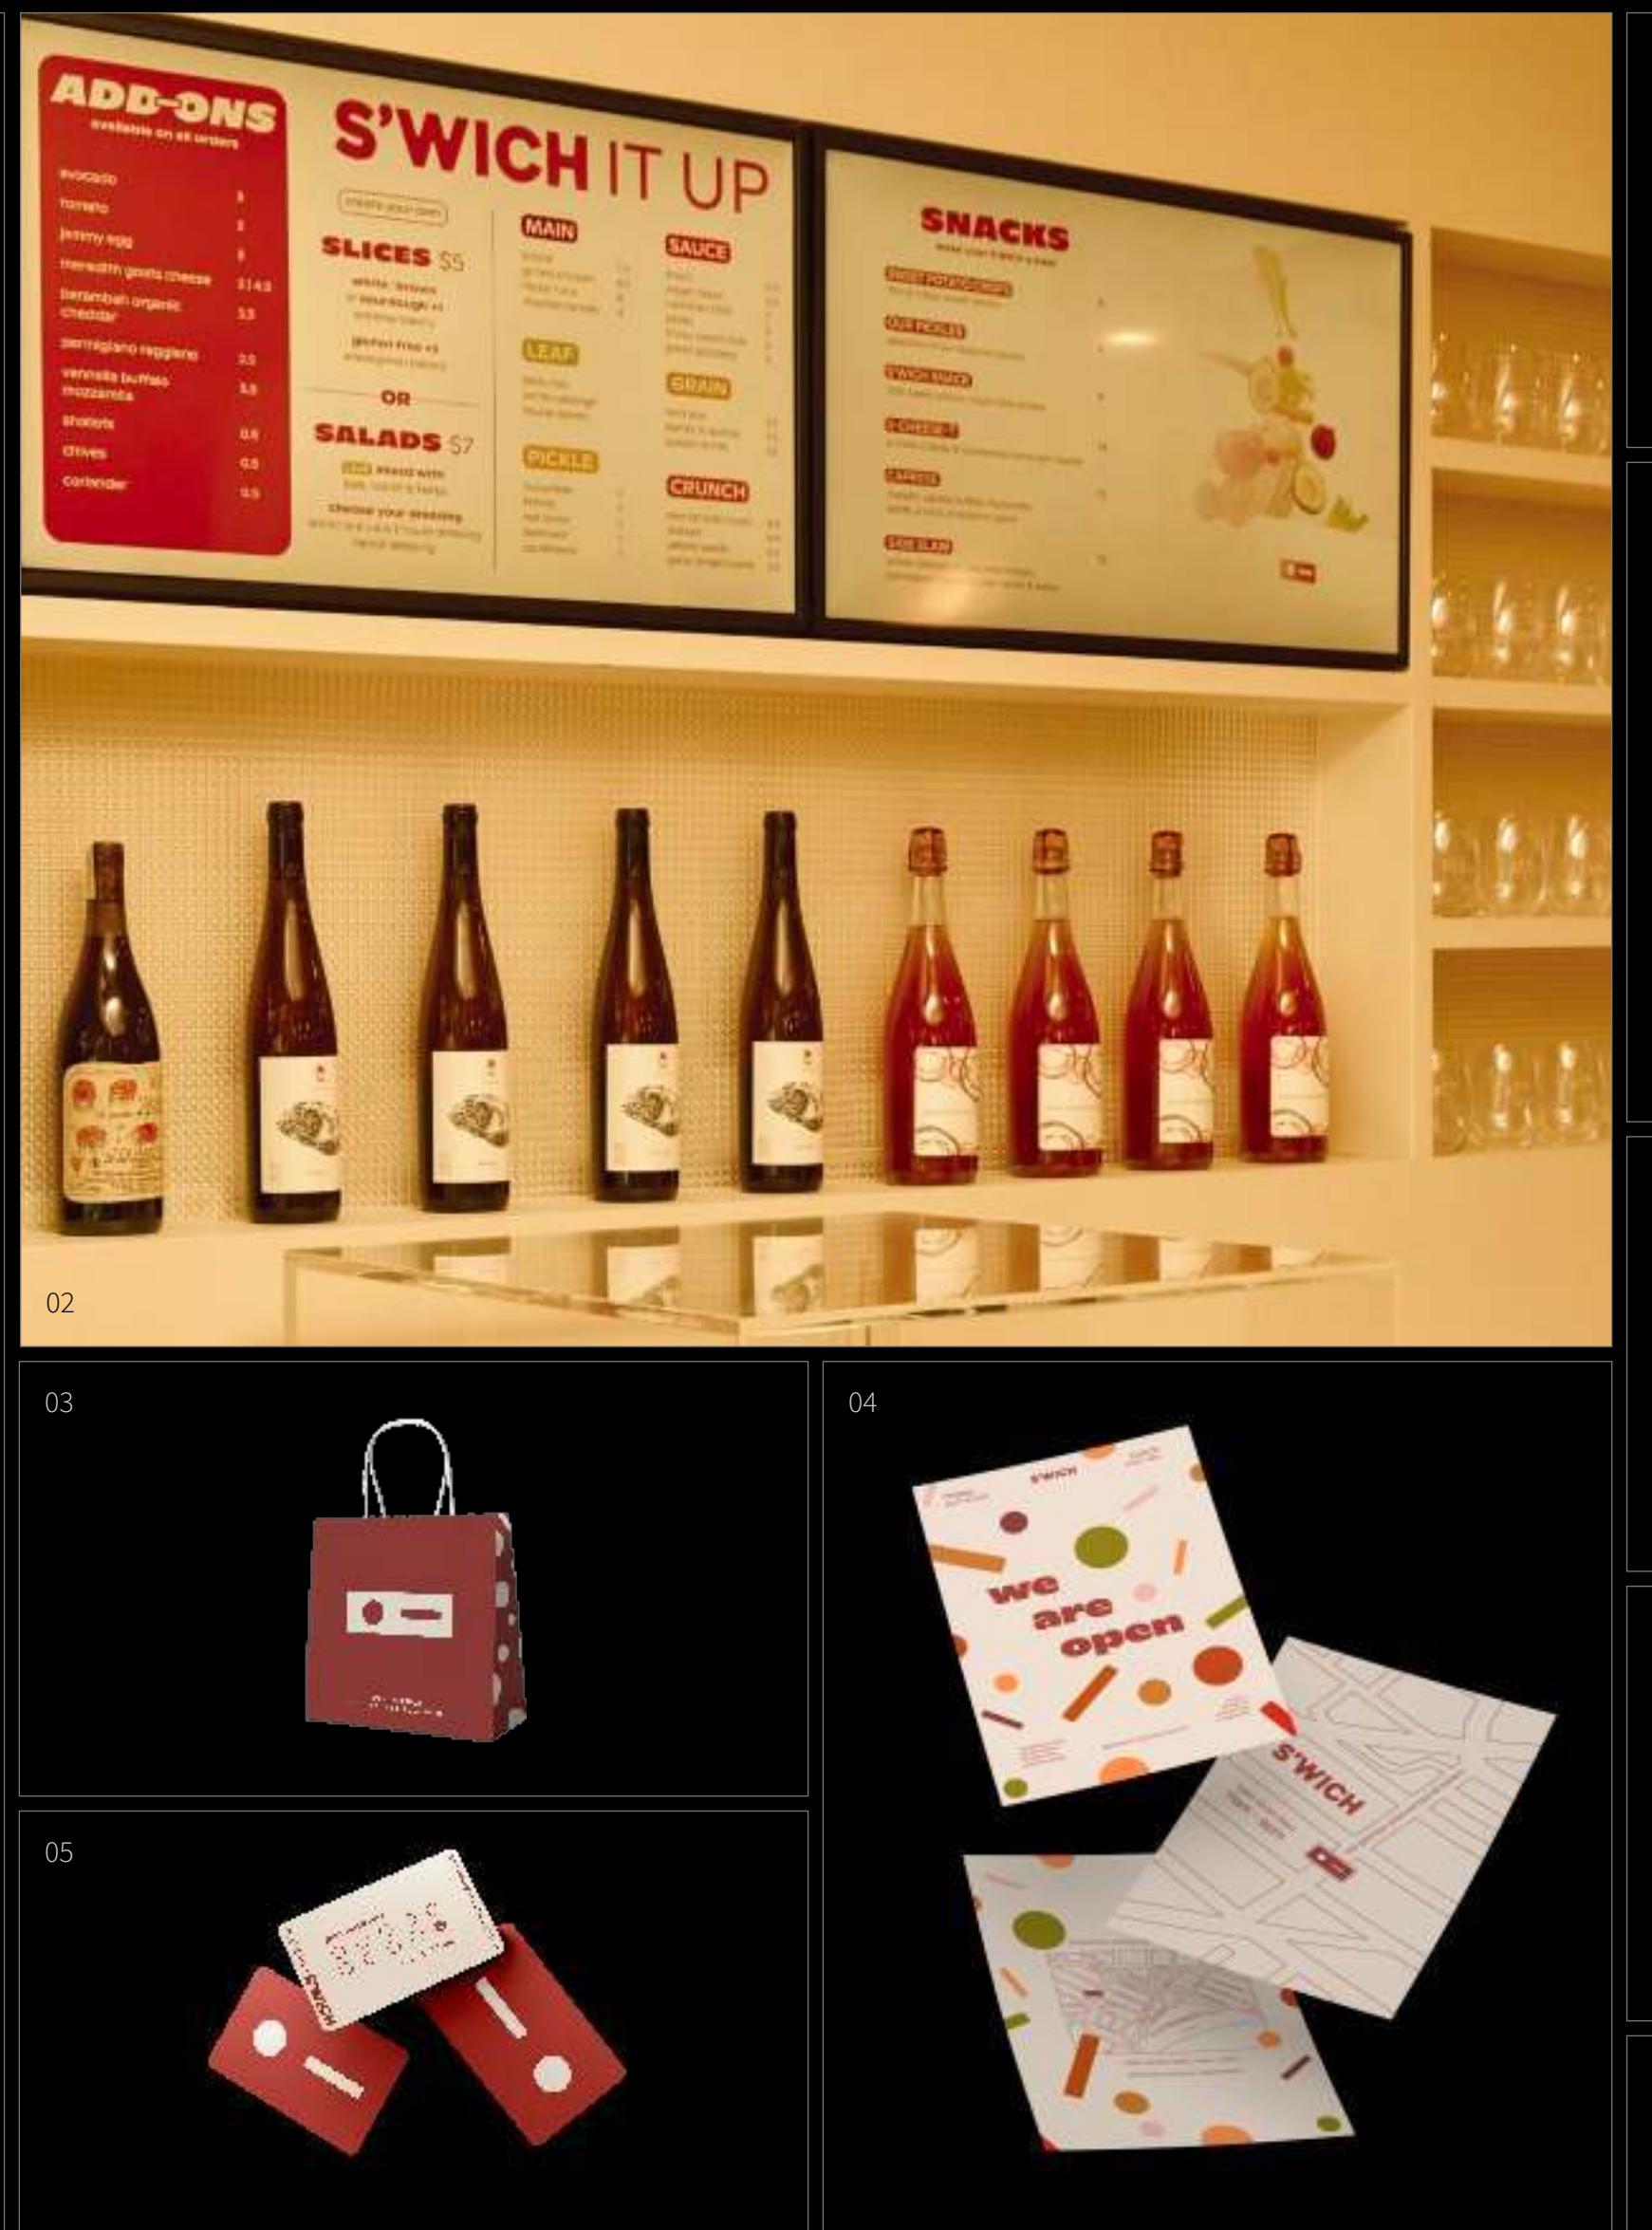

Deliverables:

Brand Id, menus, packaging, digital campaigns

As Creative Lead for SWICH, I developed a cohesive brand identity spanning both physical and digital platforms. From strategizing major campaigns for partners like Heinz to crafting targeted visuals for The Pilates Class, I drove engagement and sales, boosting brand visibility and positioning SWICH as a premium food brand.

01

Challenge:

- S'WICH began with minimal branding—a basic logo, color palette, and wordmark. The challenge was to create a cohesive identity that would unify their menus, packaging, and digital presence while maintaining a distinct voice in a highly competitive hospitality market. Additionally, they required compelling campaigns to drive customer engagement and increase average order value.

Solutions

- Developed a comprehensive branding system that extended across physical and digital assets, aligning all visual touchpoints for a cohesive customer experience.
- Executed a strategic launch plan to position S'WICH as a standout brand in a saturated market, leveraging unique storytelling and community engagement to drive foot traffic and brand loyalty.
- Designed an optimized menu with strategic upselling opportunities, such as highlighting add-on purchases through effective design.
- Produced targeted social campaigns, including the highly successful "Golden Grove Olive Oil" initiative, leveraging creative visuals and storytelling to captivate their audience.

Results

- 55% increase in average order value following the implementation of the revamped menu.
- 50% of product inventory sold out after just two social posts.
- Recognized as Best Café Design at the 2023 Eat Drink Design Awards for its innovative approach to branding and experience design.

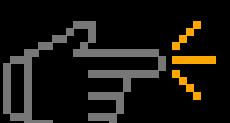

Testimonial

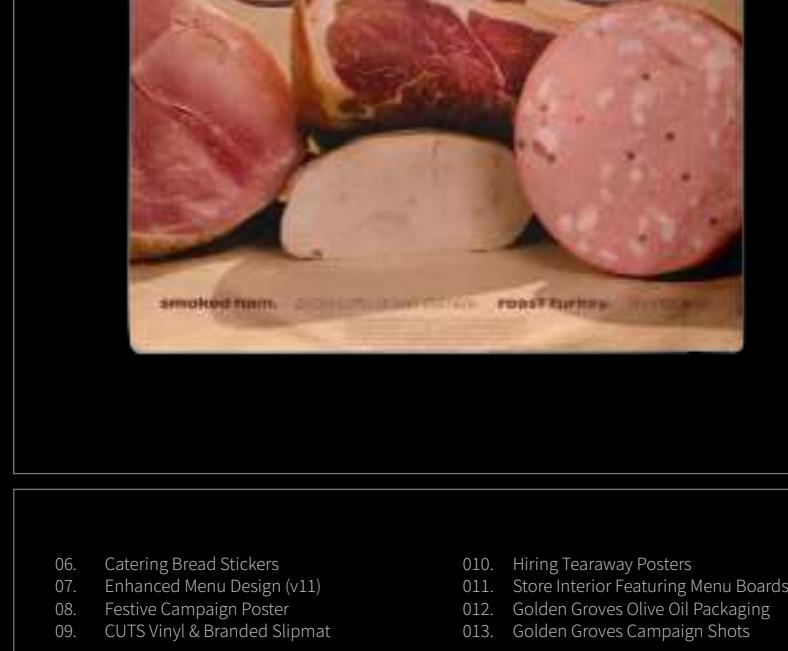

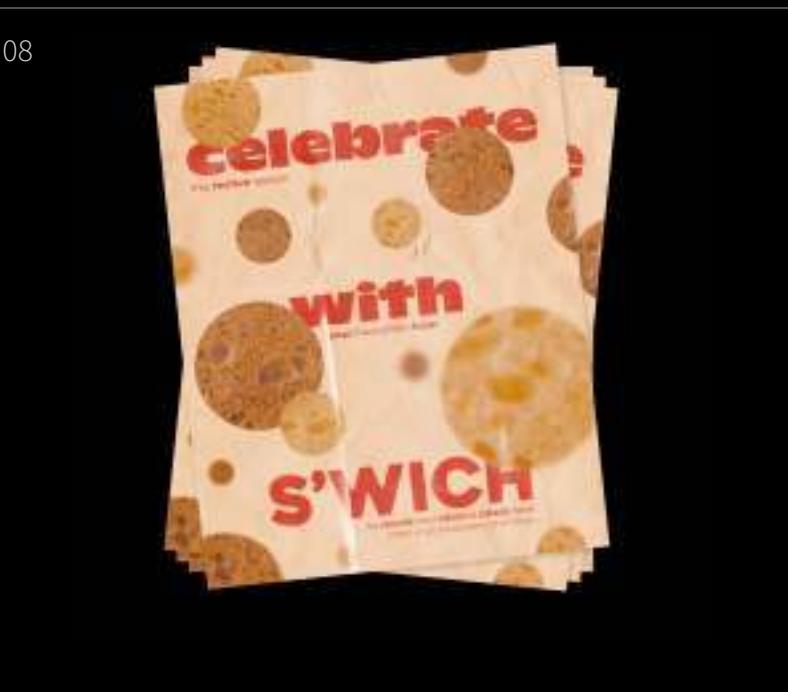

"Before Nate joined S'WICH, we were just a concept with a logo, color palette, and a rough idea of who we wanted to be. Nate became instrumental not just in shaping our design but in guiding our overall strategy. From the way our menu drives upselling to how our branding connects with customers online and in-store, every element has been carefully thought through and elevated under his direction" - J. Deliverables:

Promotional visuals, animations, branded digital assets

I delivered Ferrari's high-stakes campaigns with precision, balancing their iconic branding with digital innovation. Through collaborative content creation, I elevated Ferrari Australasia's online presence, aligning every asset with the sophistication the brand demands.

Challenge:

Ferrari Australasia partnered with AKQA/Essence to elevate their digital presence through visually compelling monthly content. The challenge was twofold: to craft engaging visuals and strategies for promoting new car models and events like the Australian Grand Prix. Operated within the constraints of Ferrari's global brand guidelines navigating their digital asset management (DAM) system to source materials and create standout content.

Solutions

- Developed and executed monthly content calendars tailored to Ferrari Australasia's objectives, combining strategic messaging with visually striking content to drive engagement and sales.
- Produced video promos, motion graphics, and interactive content for key campaigns, including the 296 GTS launch, Australian Grand Prix promo series, and pre-owned vehicle sales.
- Crafted narrative-driven content and custom designs, such as image composites and interactive polls, that aligned Ferrari's legacy with fresh, local engagement strategies.
- Maximized creative freedom within brand guidelines to deliver high-quality, consistent visuals across platforms.

Results

- Increased social media engagement across Ferrari Australasia's platforms, resulting in higher awareness of new models like the Roma and 296 GTS.
- Delivered impactful campaigns, such as the Australian Grand Prix promo.
- Enhanced sales for pre-owned Ferrari models through a targeted storytelling series.
- Built seamless workflows to meet monthly deadlines while exceeding client expectations.

Testimonial

"Nate's ability to dive into Ferrari's extensive digital ecosystem and deliver high-quality, brand-aligned content each month was invaluable. From crafting impactful visuals for our 296 GTS launch to creating engaging pre-owned vehicle campaigns, his work elevated our social presence while maintaining Ferrari's renowned elegance and exclusivity." - L. 03

04

Challenge:

- Trood Pratt & Co, a Sydney-based accounting and advisory firm with over 50 years of history, faced the challenge of modernizing their visual identity. Despite their longstanding client relationships and expertise across diverse sectors, their brand lacked consistency, and their digital and physical assets were outdated, making it difficult to appeal to both existing and younger clientele.

Solutions

- Traianos Pakioufakis
Brand Identity Overhaul: Redesigned their visual identity, retaining elements of their established aesthetic while introducing a modern, cohesive look. This included a refreshed logo, refined typography, and a sophisticated color palette.
- Asset Development: Delivered business-critical assets, including business cards, ID cards, email signatures, letterheads, and presentation folders.
- Website Redesign: Crafted a user-friendly and visually engaging website that highlighted Trood Pratt's extensive services, making it easier for clients to navigate and access resources.
- Photography Direction: Partnered with professional photographer Traianos Pakioufakis to produce corporate portraits and office imagery, adding a personal and professional touch.

Results

- Strengthened brand presence across physical and digital platforms, aligning with their forward-looking vision.
- Improved client engagement through a modernized website and unified visual identity.
- Reinforced trust and credibility with existing clients while appealing to new, younger demographics.

Testimonial

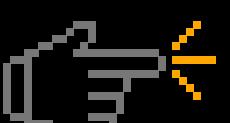

"Working with Nate was an incredible experience. He took the time to understand our firm's values and legacy, ensuring that the rebrand reflected who we are today while positioning us for the future. His ability to collaborate with our team and bring our vision to life exceeded expectations."

Video & Graphic & Print Assets

For Fishbowl's "Nori Caesar" campaign, I produced playful, on-brand designs for print and digital. My contributions brought a fresh, dynamic flair to their visuals, boosting engagement across multiple platforms.

/016

Challenge:

- Fishbowl's growing success and continuous menu innovation required an agile creative to step in during their lead designer's absence. They needed someone capable of maintaining their day-to-day creative flow while developing two major campaigns: the Nori Caesar launch and the nationwide Street Food rollout. This included creating over 250+ assets spanning digital, print,

Solutions

- Nori Caesar Campaign: Developed an entirely new creative direction, diverging from traditional brand guidelines to craft a bold, tabloid-inspired aesthetic. This included digital content, motion graphics, print advertisements, and store visuals, all designed to amplify the product's unique appeal.
- Street Food Rollout: Designed over 250+ assets, including restaurant signage, social media content, newsletters, vehicle wraps, and more. Managed asset deployment across digital and physical channels for maximum reach and consistency.
- Provided on-demand creative solutions for day-to-day requirements, including web updates,

Results

- Nori Caesar Campaign: Launched a visually disruptive campaign that captured audience attention and exceeded engagement expectations.
- Street Food Rollout: Delivered 250+ assets seamlessly across all platforms, ensuring a cohesive brand message and polished execution.

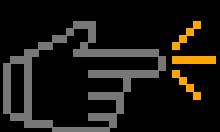

Testimonial

"Nate's ability to energize a team and bring fresh creative insight made a huge difference for us. He seamlessly stepped into our fast-paced environment, delivering top-tier designs and campaigns that resonated with our audience. We genuinely loved having him in the office—his presence elevated our collaboration and brought a dynamic edge to our projects." - L Hurst - Marketing Manager

Site Specific Art Installation & Sculptural Artwork

For Fishbowl's "Nori Caesar" campaign, I produced playful, on-brand designs for print and digital. My contributions brought a fresh, dynamic flair to their visuals, boosting engagement across multiple platforms.

/019

Challenge:

As a first-time invited artist for Sculpture by the Sea, Bondi 2024, I developed White Line Therapy, a 2km pathway intervention addressing pedestrian flow and urban systems along Bondi's iconic coastal walk. The project required navigating council regulations, environmental guidelines, and public safety measures while maintaining artistic integrity. A complementary rock sculpture was conceptualized mid-project, presenting additional challenges of material sourcing and construction within timelines.

Solutions

- Designed and proposed White Line Therapy as a reflective, playful artwork, employing a wavy line to reimagine public space and pedestrian movement.
- Collaborated with Waverley Council to adapt the design, including adjustments for heritage zones and environmental compliance using eco-friendly chalk paints.
- Managed a multidisciplinary team, coordinating painters, documentarians, and traffic controllers during installation, while overcoming equipment delays and unpredictable weather.
- Sourced and fabricated a rock sculpture to complement the primary artwork, partnering with welders and carpenters to achieve structural stability and conceptual cohesion.

Results

- White Line Therapy became the largest artwork in Sculpture by the Sea's history, garnering extensive media attention, including features on ABC and Channel 10.
- The installation sparked public dialogue on civic systems and art's role in urban spaces.
- The rock sculpture sold for $9,800, reinforcing its artistic and market value.
- Achieved full compliance with council and eco requirements, despite logistical hurdles.

Testimonial

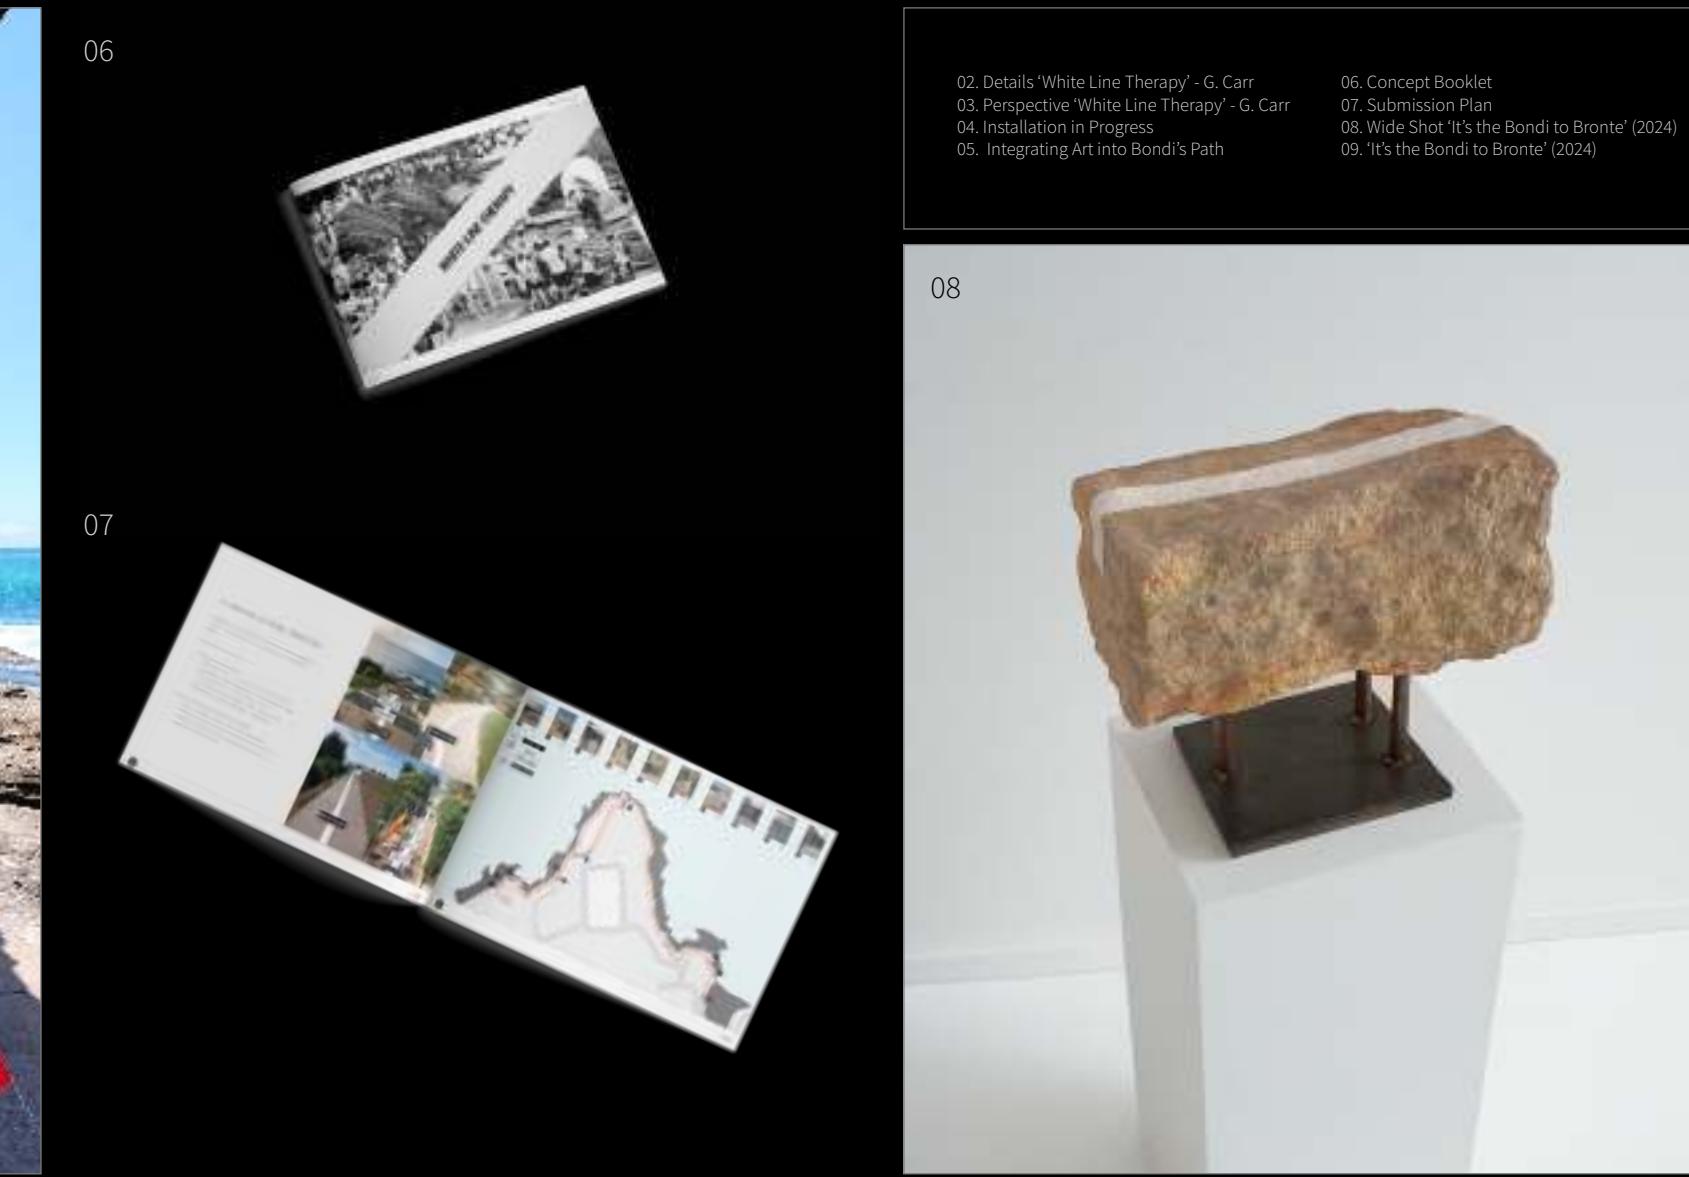

"Nate's ability to translate ambitious concepts into public artworks of this scale was exceptional. White Line Therapy blended humor, creativity, and social commentary, setting a new benchmark for installations along the Bondi path. The result showcased both artistic vision and practical leadership." – S Clark - Production Executive

Challenge

Salesforce required dynamic, engaging, and polished B2B and promotional content across multiple campaigns, including its partnerships with Singapore Airlines, Slack, and Salesforce World Tour.

The challenge lay in maintaining brand consistency across a vast array of digital touchpoints while adapting to different campaign briefs, assets, and regional needs.

Additionally, some projects required finding innovative solutions to execute content when existing resources were incomplete or unavailable.

Solutions

- Designed and rolled out social and interactive content tailored to B2B and engagement goals.
- Produced campaign videos, including motion graphics and video edits, by leveraging Salesforce's digital asset library (DAM) and sourcing complementary media as needed.
- Delivered comprehensive transcription and video editing for projects like Singapore Airlines x Salesforce interview promos and 2021 recap videos, using advanced transcription tools.
- Supported campaign rollouts by executing screen-ratio-specific ads, including global campaigns for Salesforce World Tour and Slack partnership promotions.
- Adapted to resource gaps with innovative approaches and finding new software solutions.

Impact

- Established consistency and quality across Salesforce's B2B campaigns, ensuring alignment with brand goals and regional audience expectations.
- Enabled streamlined campaign rollouts across various formats and channels, improving production efficiency and delivery times.
- Contributed to higher engagement rates for video and motion graphics content through compelling visuals tailored to Salesforce's storytelling approach.
- Produced scalable content formats that were used across multiple platforms, amplifying campaign longevity and reach.

Digital marketing materials, campaign visuals

Working with BankWest, I created engaging campaign assets that drove user interaction and brand engagement. Through precise execution of graphics and animations, I helped bring their campaign narratives to life across digital platforms.

Challenge

As a contractor with AKQA/Essence, I was brought on mid-project to support Bankwest's "ScrimpOrSplurge" and "Brilliant Broking" campaigns after another designer became unavailable. This required quickly familiarizing myself with the existing creative direction, assets, and project objectives. The campaigns aimed to create cohesion between physical convention booth experiences and digital marketing efforts, requiring innovative approaches to engage audiences.

Solution

- Designed high-quality booth displays, including banners, interactive elements, and promotional materials, ensuring consistency.
- Developed the Wheel Spin Game, a gamified experience to attract and engage.
- Produced digital campaign content for the "#ScrimpOrSplurge" initiative, incorporating motion graphics and tailored designs for multiple platforms.
- Delivered cohesive mockups for printed and digital use.

Impact

- Increased Engagement: Boosted convention booth engagement by 30%, with the Wheel Spin Game and interactive displays becoming a focal point for attendees.
- Social Media Success: Amplified social media impressions for the ScrimpOrSplurge campaign, effectively merging in-person with digital visibility.
- Efficiency Gains: Streamlined production processes by optimizing existing assets and templates, reducing production timelines by 20% while maintaining quality.

Challenge

Hills Pet Nutrition, in collaboration with AKQA/Essence, required engaging digital content to promote its science-backed pet food products. As a contractor, I was tasked with creating interactive social campaigns that effectively communicated Hills' unique value proposition—"Science Did That." This included navigating their Approved Pets List to ensure all visuals aligned with specific breeds and species guidelines while sourcing high-resolution images to maintain quality. Additionally, I had to produce a high volume of content under tight deadlines, ensuring brand consistency across campaigns while balancing educational and playful tones to resonate with diverse pet-owner demographics.

Solutions

- Campaign Development: Designed interactive Instagram stories and swipers, incorporating gamified elements like quizzes and infographics to educate and entertain users.
- Creative Execution: Leveraged Hills' extensive asset library while independently sourcing and editing high-res images of approved pet breeds to meet campaign requirements.
- Innovative Design: Developed playful illustrations and motion graphics tailored to individual campaigns, emphasizing both product benefits and relatable pet-owner scenarios.
- Cross-Team Collaboration: Worked closely with the marketing and creative teams at AKQA/Essence to align all content with Hills' branding and campaign objectives.

Impact

- Increased Engagement: Boosted Instagram story interactions by 40%, attributed to gamified quizzes and visually dynamic storytelling.
- Enhanced Brand Awareness: Elevated Hills' positioning as a leader in science-backed pet nutrition by presenting complex information in a digestible and engaging format.

Collaborating with Refundid, I executed a series of impactful campaigns showcasing their unique e-commerce solutions. Through innovative content creation and targeted social media strategies, I enhanced their market visibility and strengthened customer engagement.

Challenge

Refundid, an innovative startup revolutionizing the returns process for e-commerce, needed creative assets to establish its brand identity as both approachable and cutting-edge. My role involved developing visually cohesive and engaging materials to boost user adoption and drive partnerships with retailers. This required aligning Refundid's playful yet professional tone with diverse audiences—from fashion-forward consumers to B2B stakeholders. Stepping into ongoing campaigns, I faced tight deadlines to produce versatile assets, including Instagram campaigns, packaging concepts, and event materials. Additionally, I had to manage creative challenges like balancing Refundid's bold, minimalist style with messaging clarity across digital, print, and physical touchpoints.

Solutions

- Created dynamic content across Refundid's campaigns, including social media stories, animated videos, and printed assets.
- Developed brand-consistent B2B presentation decks and guides to align messaging across stakeholders.
- Designed key visuals for Refundid's social media and marketing, such as interactive quizzes, swipeable animations, and product features.
- Managed their creative asset pipeline, sourcing and adapting high-resolution visuals to maintain quality and consistency.
- Incorporated humor and relatability into campaigns to build stronger engagement.

Impact

- Increased User Engagement: Instagram campaigns boosted user engagement by 45%, using dynamic storytelling and bold visuals to convert curious viewers into active users.
- Strengthened Retail Partnerships: Professional presentation materials helped Refundid secure key collaborations with leading online retailers, amplifying brand credibility.
- Expanded Brand Recognition: Cohesive branding and promotional assets reinforced Refundid's position as a trusted name in fast e-commerce returns.

Merchandise, campaign visuals, promotional assets

As Creative Lead for Miss Double Bay, I crafted brand-aligned campaigns that elevated her digital presence. From designing standout merchandise to executing targeted campaigns, I created works for her that stood out.

Challenge

- Miss Double Bay's creative studio was tasked with several diverse campaigns, including creating a dynamic and engaging promotional video for Allegra Spender's parliamentary campaign, developing unique designs for CAN Drinks' giveaway and the MDB-branded Water Bottles campaign, and executing a collaborative Vajazzled Kit with ModiBodi. Each campaign had distinct creative and strategic goals, such as driving sales, introducing new products, and maintaining brand alignment across various promotional channels. The MDB Water Bottles campaign required a comprehensive rollout, including posters, swipers, and content series, while the Vajazzled Kit collaboration demanded precise packaging that matched the original ModiBodi reference.

Solutions

- Allegra Spender Campaign: Conceptualized and produced a fast-paced, rap-inspired meme video using supplied and sourced footage to resonate with younger audiences.
- CAN Drinks Giveaway: Designed a custom "SoFresh Album Cover" giveaway, leveraging MDB's quirky brand identity to engage followers.
- Water Bottles Campaign: Delivered end-to-end creative assets, including product design, swiper series, posters, and a full digital content rollout, to introduce MDB's branded water bottles
- ModiBodi Collaboration: Meticulous attention to detail ensured seamless packaging design, aligned with ModiBodi's branding standards while reflecting MDB's playful tone.

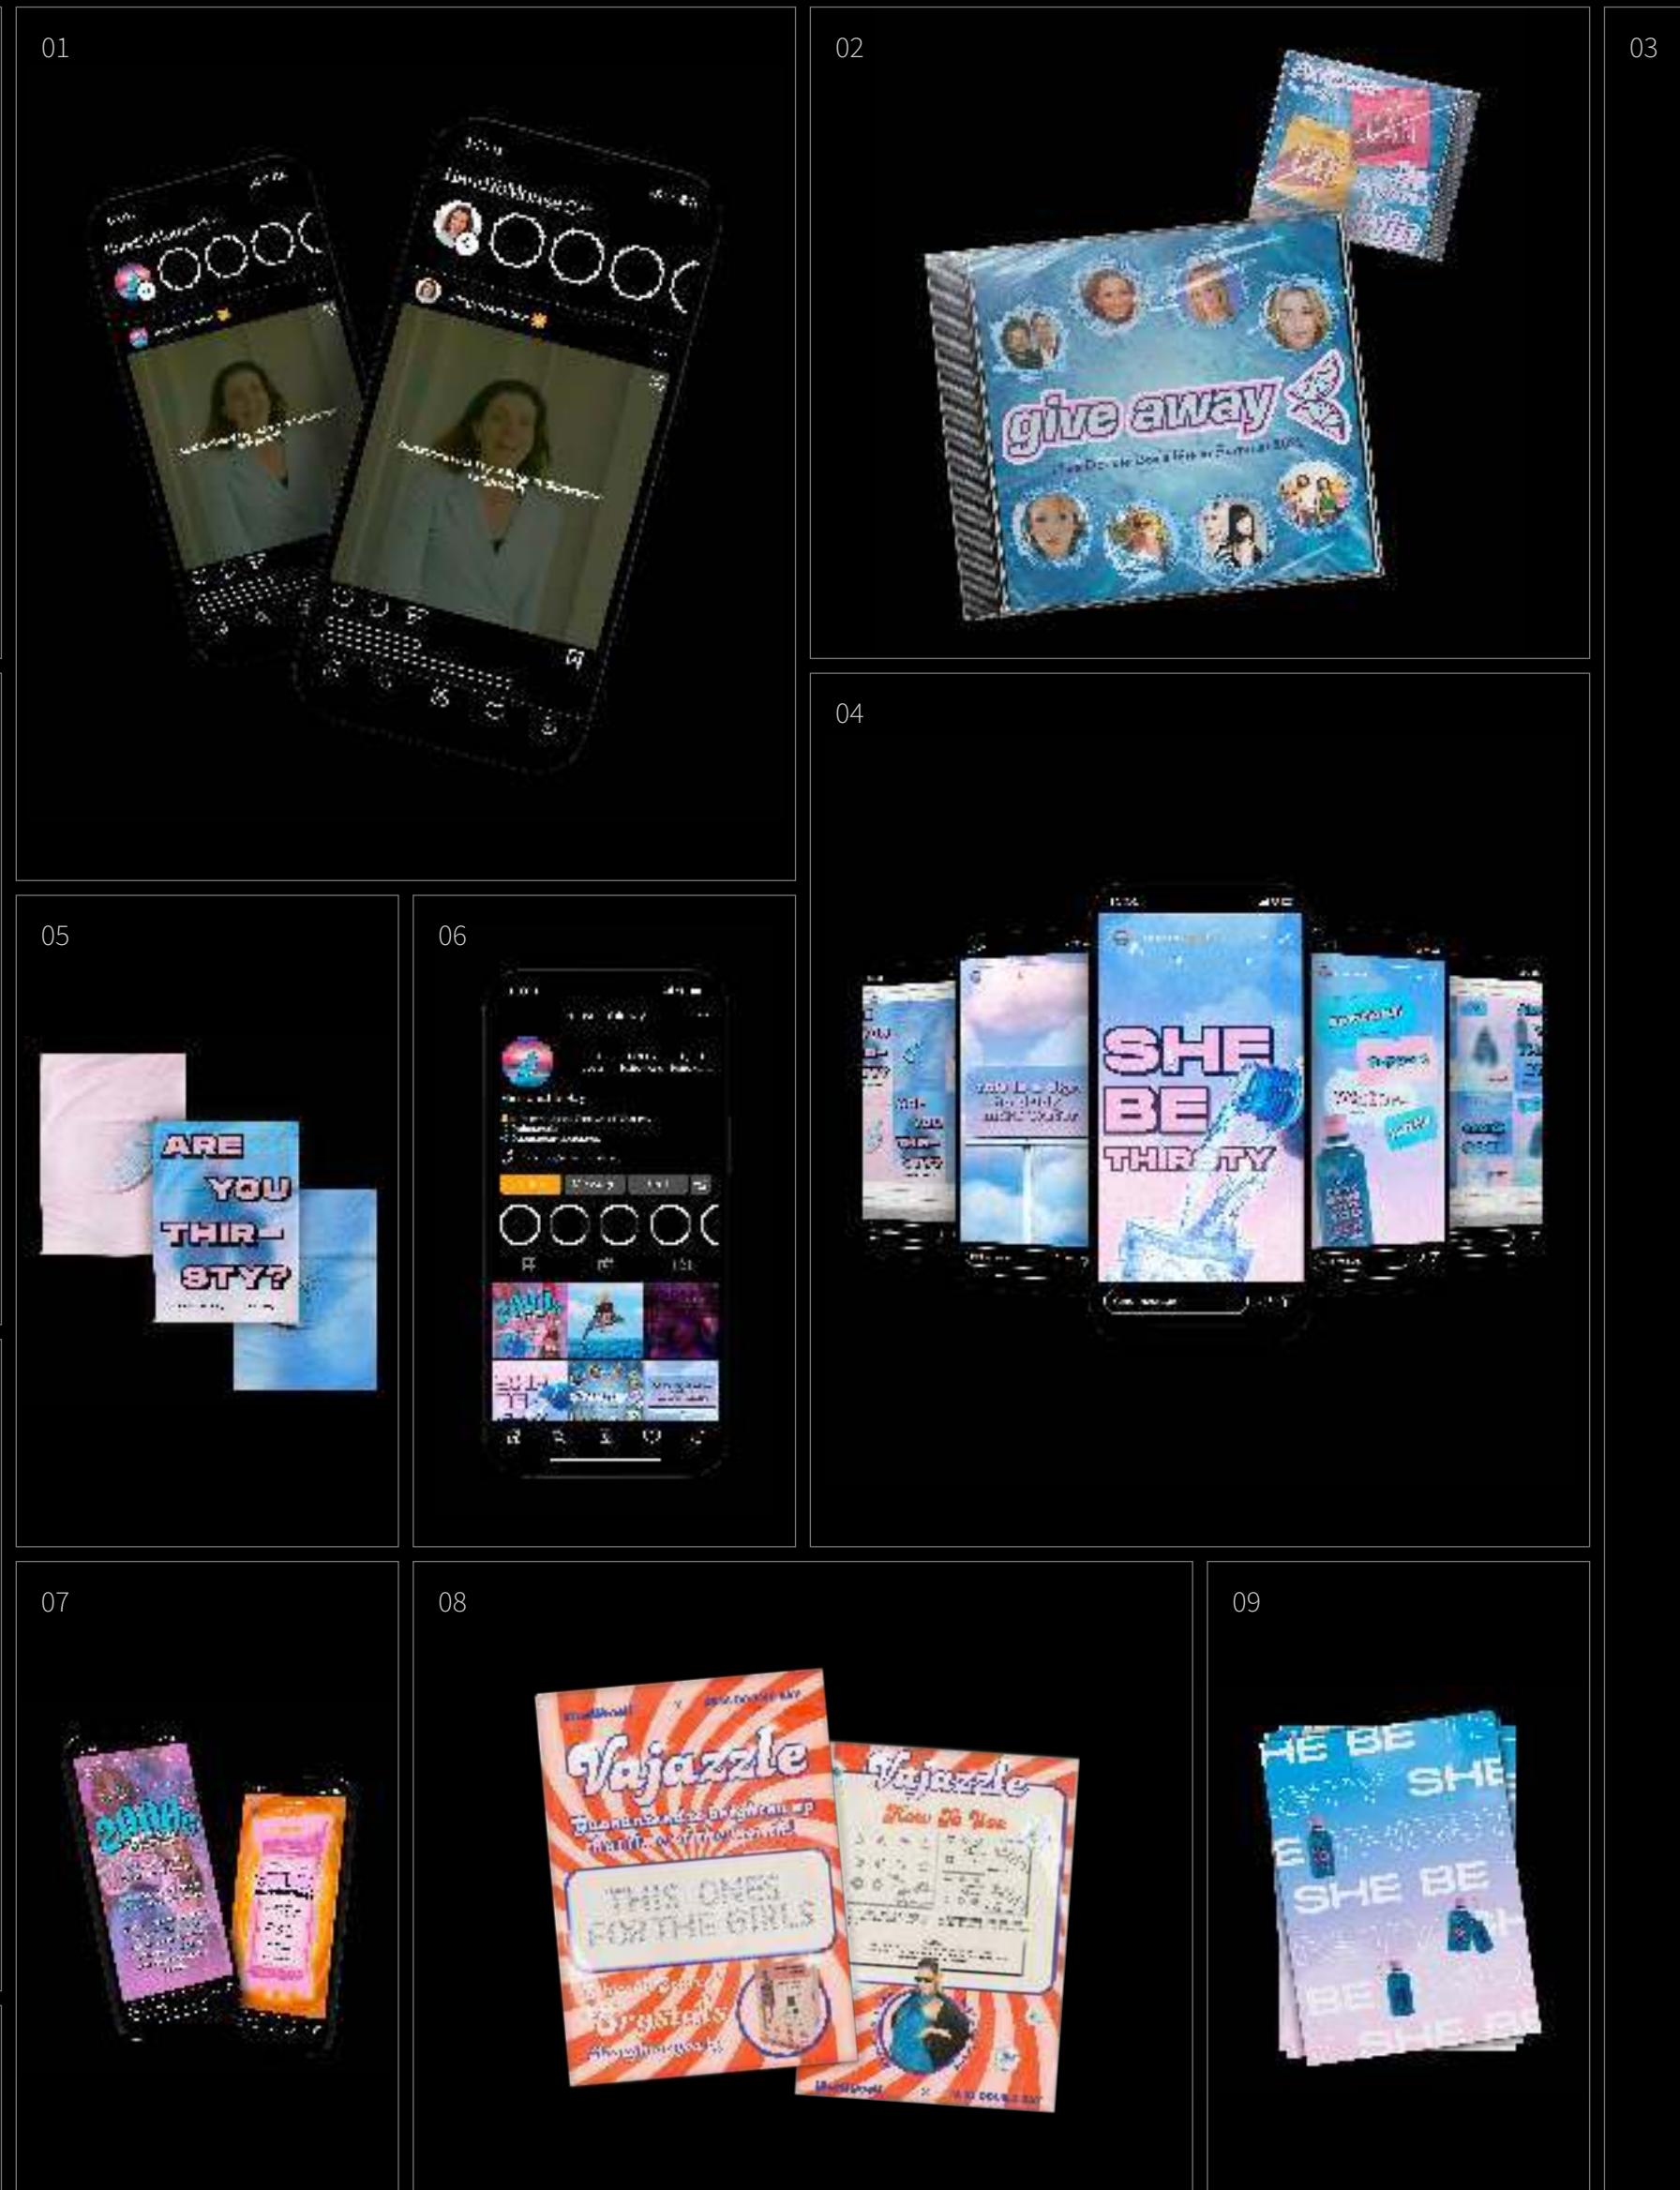

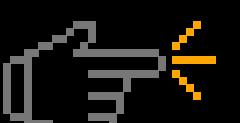

Impact

- Increased product awareness and sales for the MDB-branded water bottles through an integrated campaign spanning posters, digital content, and social media.
- Boosted MDB's reach and cultural relevance through the Allegra Spender video, which resonated with her target demographic of younger voters.
- Strengthened brand equity by maintaining creative excellence across all collaborations, from CAN Drinks to ModiBodi, ensuring a seamless blend of humor and sophistication.

Challenge

MapleMoon, a boutique health food brand, approached me to create their complete visual identity and packaging design from scratch. At the time, their products were sold in plain brown bags with small stickers. The challenge was to craft a cohesive brand identity that not only aligned with their commitment to sustainability and wellness but also positioned them as a premium player in the competitive health food market. This included designing packaging for their entire product range (Carob Bars, Elixirs, and shipping boxes), developing custom dielines, and creating promotional materials like a tradeshow booth and branded stand. Additionally, I worked with copywriting, ensuring the messaging reflected their values and resonated with their target audience.

Solutions

- Designed a sophisticated brand identity to highlight MapleMoon's wellness and sustainability ethos, creating a cohesive visual language for the brand.
- Developed packaging from scratch for Carob Bars, Elixirs, and eco-friendly shipping boxes, including custom dielines that balanced aesthetics with functionality.
- Assisted with product messaging to ensure alignment with the brand's values, helping to craft clear, engaging copy for packaging and marketing materials.
- Created branded tradeshow materials for an impactful industry presence, including banners and stands that elevated the brand at events.
- Coordinated with manufacturers and distributors to ensure smooth production.

Impact

- Launched a cohesive brand identity, establishing MapleMoon as a premium health food brand and differentiating it in a competitive market.
- Boosted product appeal through refined packaging and messaging that resonated with health-conscious consumers and retail buyers alike.
- Increased brand awareness with striking tradeshow materials that drew attention at industry events and helped secure new business opportunities.
- Strengthened sustainability messaging through eco-friendly packaging solutions, enhancing the brand's alignment with ethical consumer expectations.
- Ensured production efficiency and quality by liaising directly with manufacturers and distributors.

Softlite Surfboards

Client:

Direct

Year:

2019 - 2022

Role:

In-House Designer

Project Type:

Branding, Packaging, Campaign Design

Deliverables:

Board designs, promotional campaigns

As Softlite's in-house designer, I spearheaded the creative overhaul of their surfboard line, refreshed board graphics, and launched compelling campaigns that resonated with surfers worldwide.

Challenge

Softlite, a well-established surfboard brand since 2005, needed a fresh perspective to modernize their design language while preserving their legacy as a trusted name in accessible surfing. As their in-house graphic designer, I was tasked with managing all creative outputs for a small-to-medium company, encompassing product design, branding, and marketing. This included evolving the aesthetic of their signature surfboards to appeal to both beginner surfers and performance-oriented riders, while collaborating with major retailers like SurfCulture, Rip Curl, and Softboard Centre Hossegor. Balancing their rich heritage with vibrant, contemporary designs was critical to maintaining their competitive edge in the softboard market.

Solutions

- Board Designs: Designed visually captivating surfboards, blending Softlite's playful branding with technical design features for models like the Chop Stick, Pop Stick, and Fish Stick.
- Brand Modernization: Introduced updated design elements for logos, packaging, and promotional materials, revitalizing Softlite's brand presence while respecting its legacy.
- Creative Ownership: Managed all creative deliverables, including digital and print advertising, catalogs, and social media content, ensuring a consistent and cohesive look across touchpoints.
- Cross-Team Collaboration: Worked closely with the product team to execute functional, user-friendly designs while consulting surf schools and ambassadors for feedback.

Impact

- Elevated the brand's relevance by redesigning legacy board styles, helping Softlite maintain its position as a leader in the surfboard market.
- Strengthened partnerships with surf retailers through exclusive designs that boosted in-store visibility and sales.
- Improved customer engagement with playful, high-impact visuals that resonated with Softlite's core audience of younger surfers and beginners.
- Streamlined the production workflow by creating reusable templates for packaging and advertising, reducing design turnaround time.

Challenge

As the in-house designer for Stealth Bodyboards, I was responsible for managing the creative production of a globally recognized bodyboarding brand while maintaining its established identity. My role required balancing bold, brand-consistent visuals with the distinct styles and needs of distributors, sponsored riders, and event organizers. This included refreshing logos for Team Rider Boards, such as the Golden Child Board, and designing promotional assets for global campaigns. Additionally, I developed packaging posters and created layouts for Movement Magazine. Producing rider videos involved editing raw footage to craft high-energy clips that aligned with Stealth's visual style while meeting the individual personalities of the athletes. The role also required collaborating with international distributors and navigating diverse global audience expectations.

Solutions

- Redesigned Team Rider boards like the Golden Child Board, blending bold branding with performance aesthetics.
- Produced high-energy rider video edits, showcasing athletes while staying true to Stealth's ethos.
- Created packaging posters, magazine layouts, and branded event materials to maintain Stealth's visual presence across all touchpoints.
- Partnered with distributors and athletes to deliver cohesive designs adapted to global markets.

Impact

- Elevated Stealth's global presence with cohesive visuals across print, video, and digital touchpoints, strengthening brand recognition.
- Boosted athlete visibility and engagement through high-impact rider videos and personalized promotional materials.
- Enhanced product appeal with refreshed packaging designs that resonated with customers and increased sales in retail spaces.
- Expanded international market reach by creating assets that aligned with distributors' local needs and cultural nuances.

MULLET

Brand:

Mullet Surfboards

Client:

Direct

Year:

2019 - 2022

Role:

In-House Designer

Project Type:

Branding, Packaging, Campaign Design

Deliverables:

Packaging design, board graphics, tone of voice

For Mullet Boards, I aligned their edgy, irreverent brand ethos with striking visuals, including custom board graphics, playful packaging, and a refined tone of voice that set them apart.

Challenge

Mullet Bodyboards, renowned for its irreverent and edgy brand personality, tasked me with creating visually striking assets that could seamlessly embody its playful yet bold ethos. From designing logos and packaging to refreshing product branding, I needed to ensure Mullet's humor and distinct identity stood out in a competitive market. Working closely with distributors, event organizers, and sponsored riders, I developed assets tailored to diverse audiences while maintaining a unified global presence. With projects ranging from illustrated stickers and event materials to bold product catalogues, I helped Mullet push creative boundaries without losing sight of functionality or global appeal.

Solutions

- Playful Illustrations: Hand-drew product care stickers and crafted irreverent packaging designs that embraced Mullet's daring and humor-filled tone.
- Brand Refresh: Designed FatCat and BobCat logos for signature models, bringing Mullet's playful personality into its key product lines.
- Bold Product Presentation: Produced a vibrant product catalogue to showcase Mullet's board lineup, combining bold designs with user-focused product details.
- Event Presence: Delivered an attention-grabbing tent design and supporting materials to elevate Mullet's visibility at events and competitions.

Impact

- Amplified Brand Visibility: Reinforced Mullet's position as a leader in the bodyboarding market with designs that resonated globally.
- Enhanced Product Recognition: Boosted the appeal of signature boards like the FatCat through refreshed branding and bold aesthetics.
- Engaged Customers Creatively: Delivered playful assets like product stickers and packaging that connected directly with Mullet's customer base.
- Elevated Event Presence: Ensured Mullet stood out at industry events with cohesive and visually exciting materials.
